CRGANIZATION REVIVED.

The prominent leaders of Tammany Hall and the County Democracy have left the city for Saratoga in order to be present at the meeting of the Democratic State Committee on Thursday. John Kelly has been in Saratoga nearly all summer; so has Edward Kearney. Hubert O. Thompson, William P. Mitchell, Thomas Costigat, Maurice Power, Maurice B. Flynn, James J. Mooney, and Daniel O'Reilly have already gone to Saratoga. Aldermen Kirk, Duffy, Smith, Fitzpatrick and Henry, and several of the lesser lights of the Tammany and County Democracy factions left at 3:30 p. m. yesterday from the Grand Central Depot. Sheriff Davidson, ex-Sheriff Bowe, Excise Commissioner Haughton, Assemblyman T. J. Campbell, ex-Civil Justice Callahan, Charles W. Brooke, Dennis de Courcey, Daniel E. Finn and Thomas Wild, representing Irving Hall, went up on the Hudson River boat last evening.

The members of the State Committee representing the Congressional Districts of this city are Michael C. Murphy, Edward Cooper, William C. Whitney, cand Augustus Schell. Messrs. Whitney, Cooper, Schell and Grace are in Europe. Edward Kearney will represent Augustus Schell at the meeting of the committee. Fire Commissioner Purroy will act as the proxy of ex-Mayor Grace; Hubert O. Thompson has the proxy of Mr. Whitney, and can name whom ever he picases to act for him. Mr. Cooper sailed from Liverpool on Wednesday last, and wrote sometime ago that he hoped to be in Saratoga when the committee met. It is probable that he has made arrangements in the event of the delay of the steamer for some one to act for

The time and place for holding the State Convention will be named by the State Committee. This is not deemed of as mach importance by the Democratic leaders in pile city as the iset that the State Committee has the power to supervise the primaries to be held in his city for the election of delegates to the Democratic State Convention. The leaders of the County Democracy lay a good deal of stress on the fact that his city for the election of delegates to the Democratic State Convention as the regular Democratic State Convention as the regular Democratic organization was recognized by the dast Democratic State Convention as the regular Democratic organization of he City and County of New-York. On August 13 the Executive Committee of the County Democracy met, and, after reminding the State Committee of its action last year, passed a series of resolutions, concluding as follows:

At the last Democratic State Convention a resolution was adopted declaring the New-York County Democracy to be the regular Democratic organization of the city and or resolution toat the primary elections for the city and of delegates to State conventions in the city of New-York be held by election districts, under the anapices and direction of the Democratic State Committee to invited to we resolution of the Democratic State Committee to envited to we recommend that the State Committee to invited to examine and scrutinize our regulations for calling and holding these primaries, and to make such suggestions or take such action as may seem to take an suggestion of the Legate delector in this city that his right to participate in and vote at the said primaries shall be made sure, and that the results of said elections shall be leave of the city will elect a delegation.

It is the hope of your committee that in this manner he whole Democracy of this city will elect a delegation of the State Convention representing every shade of colitical preference which can find expression at the rimaries. action of the electors themselves will be the real and substantial triumph of the principals of the New York County Democracy.

The best informed politicians in the city believe that the State Committee will not take any action toward supervising New York primaries and will hus leave Fammany Hall master of the situation. It is well known that Fammany Hall will not concent to any such supervision.

President kelly, of the Board of Aldermen, who same down from Saratoga on Monday to act as Mayor in the temporary absence of Mayor Edson, and who will return to Saratoga to day, said yesterday: "The country members of the State Committee with whom I talked, and the representative Democrats from the interior, favor harmony. I certainly do not think that union primaries will be hadd here. Tammany Hall will not be willing to so into primaries where all the machinery is in the hands of the County Democracy. What is very likely to be done is that Tammany Hall, the County Democracy and Irving Hall will each hold primaries and elect full delegations to the State Convention. The convention will then decide what proportion of each delegation shall be satisfied with this arrangement. That will leave the local fights free from State politics. Tammany Hall has proved its ability to take care of itself in local contests."

A PAINTER'S BIRTHDAY.

A PAINTER'S BIRTHDAY.

In his country house, within the shadow of the Orange Mountains and surrounded by the scenery which is most congenial to him, Asber B. Durand, the oldest of America's painters, passed his eighty-seventh birthday yesterday in the company of his daughter. It was a besutiful drive from the railway station at South Orange, N. J., to Mr. Durand's house. Winding roads bordered by great trees and crossed by swiftly flowing streams ran o-er hija and across valleys for nearly two miles before they reached the wide lawn which sloped down from the painter's retreat. Entering a vestibule, the walls of which were hidden behind the paintings of the artist and of his friends which he had accumulated during his long life, a Tribune reporter was not by Miss Durand. She said that her father was in the best of health and welcomed his birthday with a quite anjoyment of life that could not be added to even if he had not long ago laid aside his brush and palette. It had been rumored, she said, that her father's old friends had intended to celebrate his birthday by calling on him, but Mr. Durand loved quiet and solitude so much that they had been requested, though their kindness was appreciated, not to disturb his repose. So Mr. Durand was not called from his daily walk through the woodlands to greet his friends.

LETTING HIS WIFE GO WITH HER LOVER.

Another elopement and consequent social scandal was brought to light yesterday in Brooklyn. Leo Beaumiller, who came to this country from Gormany a few years ago, left behind him his betrothed. After he had secured steady work in a Brooklyn brewery he sent for her, and they were married. A few months ago they began to keep boarders at their home in Ridgewood, L. I., where Beaumiller kept a liquor-store. Among the boarders was Francis Kleinnenz, a clerk, of whom the husband soon grew jealous. Despite his protestations they continued going out together, and on Saturday they eloped, going first to Stateu leiand and thence to this city. Beaumiller found that his wife had drawn $170 of his mency which was deposited in her name in the Williamsburg Savings Bank and he determined to seek it, if not her. The matter was put in the hands of the Brooklyn police, and Kleinhenz was arrested on Monday night when he returned to Brooklyn for his trunk. He said that he and Mrs. Beaumiller were about to go to Chicago. She was then found and confronted with her husband at the Broadway Police Station in Brooklyn. After a war of words Beaumiller agreed to let his wife go where she pleased if she would return $100, which she did, and they divided their household furniture equally. They have no children. STARVING CHILDREN IN A DIRTY HOUSE. A woman who gave her name as Georgiana G. Towen visited Police Headquarters at Stapleton, S. I., on Monday and said that she wanted her husband arrested for abandonment. The woman appeared to be deranged and she was taken before Justice Taylor, who sent a policeman with her to her home ou the old Town-road in Southfield. There the officer discovered four children, whose, ages rauged from ten menths to eight years, almost starved to death. They were clad in filthy rags, and the roem was filled with smoke from a kerosene lamp. The officer procured food for the children, and the police subsequently learned that the man with whem the woman had been living was George W. Lake, a dealer in imported Japaness goods. W. W. Corbett, of the Staten Island Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, was informed and he took charge of the children. The mother will be examined as to her sanity. Meanwhile the police are making an effort to find Lake.

A MAID MARRIED AS A WIDOW.

HER REASONS FOR THE STRANGE ACT.

THE CEREMONY SAID TO HAVE BEEN PERFORMED

TWICE—WISHING THE KNOT TIED AGAIN.

A young man and a young woman, whose looks of confusion told plainly enough that they were a "newly married couple," appeared at the Bureau of Vital Statistics yesterday in search of advice and information. The groom was tail and slender, with blond hair and blue eyes. He wore a light summer suit and a straw hat, and his manner was mild. The bride was an athletic brunette, whose rosy cheeks, flashing black eyes and elastic step bespoke abundant health and decision of character. She was dressed expensively and she did the talking for the two. The story that she told was as follows: For private reasons they had been married on August 1 by a Roman Catholic priest. She did not wish her family to know of the marriage on account of property which her children of she had any) might inherit, but she wanted her standing as a wife fixed beyond any dispute. When the wedding ceremony was performed she had described herself as a widow, although she was only eighteen years old. Her husband ascertained, a day or two ago that his marriage with a "widow" of a name other than her own had been registered by the Health Department, and some of her friends had advised her that she was not legally married. She desired to know if the records could not be changed without publicity. Dr. John T. Nagle, the Deputy Register, informed her that such a change in the records could be made only by the order of the Board of Health in a public way. Not wishing to advise her in the matter, he directed her to the office of General Shaler, the president of the Board of Health where she again related her story. She was then told that the best way out of the difficulty was to have another marriage ceremony performed.

"Oh!" she said, "we have been to the priest and the stall the court of the sard of the allowed to the health her at the stall, we have been to the priest and was to have another marriage ceremony performed.
"Oh!" she said, "we have been to the priest and have asked him to marry us over again, but he refused."

She was advised to appeal to some other priest, or to be married by some other authorized person, and the couple went away with the intention of following such a view.

went away with the intention of following such a plan.

A reporter learned last night, however, that the couple were married first by the Rev. Mr. Schneider, a Lutheran minister, of No. 91 Second-ave, and that then they were remarried by a Catholic oriest. From a large pile of marriage certificates Mr. Schneider took out that of the couple in question. It was dated August 1, and it showed that on that day, Robert H. Hayes, fr., age 24, a physician, fiving at Twenty-ninth-st, and Broadway, was married to Clara Morson, a widow, maiden name Dunn. The certificate further sets forth that Mrs. Morson had had one husband before, and that her father's name was James Dunn. William Rowan and Cecilia Schneider, the pastor's daughter, had sigued as witnesses. The signatures of bride and groom are made in a firm hand, especially that of the bride—"Clara Morson."

"She called on me to-day," said the Rev. Mr. Schneider, "and told me that she had given a wrong name; that in fact she had never been married before, and that her name was Clara Dunn. She wanted me to charge the record, but I told her I could not do it, and I sent her to the Bureau of Vital Statistics. I will not marry them over again. Both were very cool and collected when I married them and knew what they were about."

FACTORS IN THE LABOR PROBLEM. WRONGS OF SAILORS ON THE LAKES-THE WORK OF

BAKERS AND BREWERS.

Richard Powers, of Chicago, president of the Seamen's Union of the Lakes, stated before the Senate sub-Committee on Education yesterday that the organization to which he belonged has for its object the protection and elevation of lake seamen. It numbers over 7,000 members, and is composed of the best sailors on the great lakes. Since its organization the union has been instrumental in reforming many of the abuses to which the sailors were subjected. There were, however, several evils which required the interference of a higher power. Mr. Powers said that since there are no laws governing the loading offvessels on the lakes, captains and owners often overload their vessels and thus run the risk of having them wrecked on the dangerous rocks along the shores. When asked why they were willing to take such risks, Mr. Fowers replied that the owners preferred to put their trust in machinery rather than in God. He explained this

men. The wages have among brewers from rheumatism. The hours of labor often run as high as sixteen a day.

A. Strasser, president of the Cigar Makers' International Union, outlined the growth of his and similar organizations from 1856 to the present time. During its existence the International Union had expended $286,444 67 in the payment of sick benefits, the support of striking members, and in extending the general interests of the organization. There are four evils against which eight makers in the United States are compelled to contend: tenement-house labor, coolle labor, convict labor and female and child labor. In speaking of the latter Mr. Strasser said that the number of women and children now employed in this unhealthy occupation is not less than 10,000.

STRIKES IN THE BUILDING TRADES.

The strike of union laborers on the Dakota flathouse seems no nearer to a settlement now than it did on Saturday. A consultation was held yesterday between Mr. Mehan, the executor of the Clark estate, Mr. Power, the plasterer, and Mr. Banta, the builder, but no conclusion was reached. Mr. Power still says that he has pleuty of men to do his work to the satisfaction of the executor, and so long as he does this Mr. Mehan will not interfere.

The bricklayers employed on the buildings in One-Hundred-and-twenty-seventh-st., between Second and Third aves., complained on Monday to Delegate Franklin, of the Bricklayers' Union, that they had not been paid their wages on Saturday last by Mr. McManus, who has charge of the bricklaying. Mr. Franklin visited Mr. McManus, and was informed by him that Mr. Keys, the owner, had not paid him. Mr. Franklin then informed Mr. Keys that he must pay the contractor, and was told that the contractor had already been overpaid. Inasmuch as Mr. Keys could not show receipts for the money said to have been paid Mr. McManus, a strike of all the union men on the buildings was ordered, and they quit work.

John Ritter, a carpenter, was arraigned before Justice Gardner at the Essex Market Police Court yesterday, charged with having attempted to itimidate Henry Schall, a framer at work on the buildings in Sixty-first-st. between Ninth and Tenth aves. He tried to excite the framers there to strike for mn advance in wages, and, drawing a revolver, threatened to shoot Schall. He was induced to leave the buildings, but attempted to inght with Schall on his way home. He was held in $500 bail to appear at Special Sessions. STRIKES IN THE BUILDING TRADES.

A NEW TELEGRAPH LINE TO CHICAGO. A NEW TELEGRAPH LINE TO CHICAGO.

The National Telegraph Company, which was incorporated at Albany on Monday, has been organized for the purpose of operating the telegraph lines along the New-York, West Shore and Buffalo and the New-York, Chicago and St. Lons (Nickel Plate) Railroads as one system. The West Shore Company is building a four-wire telegraph line from this city to Buffalo which it has completed as far as Albany. The Nickel Plate telegraph from Buffalo to Chicago was built independently of the railroad company and was not included in the sale of the railroad property of Mr. Vanderbilt. The two lines are to be united under the organization of the National Telegraph Company.

"One line from New-York to Chicago," said General Horace Porter, president of the West Shore Railroad, yesterday, "is worth much more than the two separate lines extending from this city to Buffalo and from that place to Chicago, which are nearly equal distances. Recognizing this, we concluded to make the two lines one."

Another officer of the West Shore Railroad said that it was not purposed at present, at least, to extend the system beyond its present limits. "The West Shore Railroad has been unable to take commercial messages," he said, "because it is not empowered by its charter to do a general telegraph business. Passengers on our railroad complain because they are unable to send dispatches at points along the road. The object of the present organization is simply to open our lines to ordinary business."

The capital of the company is $25,000, with authority to increase it to $10,000,000. The company has not been organized by the election of officers.

HIGH WORDS ABOUT BAY-WINDOWS. SHALL THEY ENCROACH UPON STREETS! INSPECTOR ESTERBROOK'S OPINION-JOHN II. SHER

SHALL THEY ENCROACH UPON STREETS!
INSPECTOR ESTERBROOE'S OPINION—JOHN H. SHERWOOD DOES NOT AGREE WITH HIM.

Voices, pitched in a high key in the private office of Inspector Esterbrook, attracted the attention of persons in the outer room of the Bureau of Buildings yesterday. Clerks, who were at work upon folios of "specifications" and "complaints," smiled and said: "Some one is making it warm for the old man, again." It was evident that a dispute of some kind was in progress. The words, "bay-windows," "street-line" and "encroachment on public streets," pronounced with distinctness, indicated that the argument was upon some technical point in the Building laws. John H. Sherwood, a prominent builder, of Sixth—ave, and One-hundred—and fifteen-st., and one of the directors of the Fifth Avenue Bank, emerged from Mr. Esterbrook's office, and then the Inspector was seen to be alone at his desk, writing. Mr. Sherwood on July 3 field plans for five dwelling honses which he intended to build in Sixth—ave., at One-hundred—and-twenty-second st., at a cost of $20,000 each. The special cations were not approved by Inspector Esterbrook, because the buildings were to have bay-windows projecting three feet and six inches beyond the building line of the lots. Mr. Esterbrook wrote on the application that the situation of the bay-windows must be outlined clearly, and that the windows must be outlined clearly and that the windows must be outlined clearly and that the windows must be outlined clearly and that the singular plans had been changed, it was said, because the laspector would not sign specifications for bay-windows extending into the street.

Inspector Esterbrook spoke freely to a Tribune reporter regarding the objectious to plans similar to those presented by Mr. Sherwood. Mayor Edson and the Counsel to the Corporation, he said, had advised him that he ought not the property ironts. WOOD DOES NOT AGREE WITH HIM.

LABOR REFORMERS IN SESSION. OFFICERS ELECTED AND WORK LAID OUT FOR THE

The third annual congress of the Federation of Organized Trade and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada began its sessions yesterday at noon in Turn Halle in East Fourth-st. There were present twenty-three delegates representing between 160,000 and 170,000 wage-workers. The object of the congress is to discuss topics of general interest to labor: to present measures to the State and National legislatures looking to the betterment of the condition of the laboring classes; to hear reports on the labor movement and to devise ways and means for the benefit and protection of wage-workers.

After the presentation of credentials the Congress took a recess until 2 p. m. Samuel Gompers, chairman of the Legislative Committee, then called the meeting to order and announced the first business in order to be the election of officers. The election resulted as follows: Samuel Gompers, of New-York, chairman; P. Powers, for Chicago, vice-chairman; W. C. Pollmer, of Cheveland, secretary; W. H. Foster, of Cincinnati, assistant-secretary, and J. H. O'Brien, of Washington, bergeant-at-arms. Frederick Bind offered a resolution, which was monimously carried, instructing the president to appear before the Senaic Committee on Education and Labor, and direct attention to the Western Union before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor, and direct attention to the Western Union Telegraph Company in compelling its employes to sign the agreement directed against secret organizations, and to ask that a law be recommended making it acriminal offence to propose such an oath. John H. O'Brien offered three resolutions: The first favored the profitment of a board of arbitration by the executive officer of each State or province, to settle all difficulties between labor and capital; the second requested Congress to impose a penalty for the infraction of the Eight-Hour law, and the third proposed that the legislatures of the different States should limit dividends for all stock companies to 10 per cent on money actually invested, all profits above that amount to be distributed among the employes of the corporations. These resolutions were referred to the Committee on Standing Orders, and will be discussed at a future date.

Standing Orders, and will be discussed at a future date.

A resolution was introduced inviting the Senate Committee on Education and Labor to be present at the Thursday morang's session of the congress to hear a general discussion of the labor question.

A substitute was offered providing that a committee of ten be appointed to draft a resolution embodying the general grievances of the laboring men with the remedies proposed and lay the memorial before the Senate Committee. Both the original resolution and the substitute were, after considerable discussion, referred to the Committee on Standing Orders.

The congress adjourned until 9 a. m. to-day.

Bertha Heyman, who has been charged with various offenses in this and the neighboring cities, was on trial yesterday in the Court of General Sessions. She is a bright-looking, but not handsome woman of nearly forty years of age. Under the provision of the Penal Code, which allows the infliction of a heavier sentence for the second offence, the District Attorney brought witnesses to show that Mrs. Heyman has been convicted heretofore. Henry Walsh, a deputy clerk of the Court of General Sessions, testified that the record shows that she was convicted for false pretences in 1881 and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary. Michael Kennedy, a keeper at the Penitentiary, testified that Mrs. Heyman had served twenty months in that institution in 1881 and 1882. Edward Sanders, the complaining witness in the present case, told on the witness-stand how Mrs. Heyman had represented herself as a relative of his worth over $200,000, and had promised him the disposal of all her property. She brought to his door a horse and carriage which she said she had bought for him, and they took a short ride in it, but he never saw it afterward. On various pretences she induced him to give her several hundred dollars. The trial will be continued to-day. SEEKING TO PUNISH A NOTORIOUS WOMAN

SETTLING A DISPUTE WITH AN AXE.

Two Irishwomen, Mary Lyons and Bridget Mc-Crann, fought yesterday afternoon in the alley at No. 22 Cherry-st. Mrs. McCrann seized an are and dealt her opponent a blow on the head. Mrs. Lyons was carried to the Chambers Street Hospital with a serious scalp wound and the ponce of the Oak Street Station arrested her assailant. The alley in which the affray took piace is a dark, damp, narrow space, between two high buildings. On it open half a dozen cellar-ways and dooriess halls. The inhabitants of the tenements prefer to settle their little disputes among themselves and they claimed last night that there had not been any trouble in the neighborhood. Mrs. Fitzgerald, the mother of the wounded woman, said that she had quarrelled with Mrs. McCrann a few weeks ago, and, she continued, "this avening she put an axe to me girl's head as she was coming down stairs, and nary a word had she said at all." The physisicians at Chambers Street Hospital do not consider Mrs. Lyons's wound a dangerous one. SETTLING A DISPUTE WITH AN AXE.

complained that her husband had been absent from his home since August 11, and that she was fearful that he had met with foul play. A general description of the missing man was sent out to the different station-houses. He is described as being five feet seven inches in height, with dark brown wavy hair, mixed with gray, light blue eyes, and dressed in a light diagonal blue coat, white waistcost, black and white checked trousers and buttoned shoes. Mrs. Walker said yesterday: "My husband has been drinking lately, but never until now has he remained away from his home. He toid the girl when he went away that he would be back to dinner by 1 o'ctock. The last that I heard of him was that he was not sober. He has been a commercial traveller in this country and in the old country, and when off on his trips I would not hear from him for some weeks. Lately, he has been working on commission, but I cannot tell you the name of the house that employed him, because it might injure him in his position. I am afraid something serious has happened. I heard of accidents in which the name of Walker was reported, but found on investigation that it was not my husband."

THE LINCOLN CAVALRY ASSOCIATION FORMED-A

A unique and inspiring meeting of men who had not seen each others' faces for nearly a score of years took place at Glen Island yesterday. Ont of 800 survivors of the 1st New-York (Lincoln) Cavairy thirty-six assembled. As one after another came forward there was a peering into faces on which time had left its marks more or less distinctly. Then as the recollection of old scenes came rushing back, eyes brightened and hand griped; hand as only old soldiers can write.

tion of old scenes came rushing oact, yes originated and hand griped; hand as only old soldiers can grip.

The Lincoln Cavalry was the first volunteer cavalry regiment to take the field. Carl Schurz was its first Colonel, but he served only three days, and Major Andrew T. McReynolds, who had been a Captain under! General Phil. Kearny in the Mexican war, succeeded him. It did conspicuous service in Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, where it was known as "The Sabre Regiment." It served from the beginning to the end of the war. Entering the United States service with 1,200 men it bore on its rolls during its term of service over 2,200 men, all "effectives," and many brave fellows won their spurs of the straps of a general officer, in its service. The members are now scattered in distant States.

The reunion yesterday was under the auspices of Harry B. Hidden Post No. 320, of City Island, Jerome Bell, commander. The post is named after First-Licutenant Hidden, of Company H. who was killed in battle. After roll call and a substantial dinner the comrades were called to order in the Pavilion by Philander Reed, of No. 22 Old Slip, a pubble spirited citizen who gave $5,000 to equip and send the regiment to the front in 1861. Mr. Reed briefly aliuded to the early trials of the regiment. He said:

Reed briefly aliuded to the early trials of the regiment. He said:

You were told that if you could—"p. d. q."—get to the front, and pay your own expenses, the Government would give you something to do. You did your part, and the Government unfilled its part of the contract by giving you four years of the hardest work any regiment ever did. Your record challenges the admiration of your countrymeo. Eighteen years ago you were mustered out on a neighboring island, and no reunion has since taken place. You will go home to-day feeling happier and better because you came here.

On Mr. Reed's surgestion a veteran organization was formed, to be known as the Lincoln Cavalry Veteran Association. The following officers were elected: President, Captain Abram Jones; vice-presidents, Captain William Alexander and Captain H. Chaimers Hinton; treasurer, Lieutenant Napoleon Valeatine; recording secretary, First Lieutenant Frederick E. Hotelikiss, of New-Haven; corresponding secretary, La Moyne Burleigh. Mr. Reed was made an honorary member. It is intended to nave a reunion every year in this city.

Two incidents only occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion—in neither of which were the veterans at fault. After Myndert Starin had welcomed them at the pier and bade them to make themselves at home, an island policeman forbade Hidden Post to unfurl their colors—the United States flag. The second incident occurred at the meeting. Just as it was closing a big policeman, No. 6, interropted Mr. Reed with a speech in this wise: "See here, geuttemen, this thing has got to stop. It's gone far enough, and I'll arrest you if you go on. This isn't a meeting-house." The indigmant looks and comments of the veterans checked him, and Mr. Reed, quietly ignoring him, said: "We have now accomplished all that we intended to do. It remains only to adjourn, and the next time we meet it will be in America, where the National flag can be unfurled."
